

Mission: Literacy Parental Permission

Mission: Literacy is a scripture-based, multicultural literacy curriculum that raises children's reading skills while they learn 30 bible stories.

Developed by the American Bible Society, Mission: Literacy is raising the reading level of children in Salvation Army programs across the country.

Children are tutored in groups of no more than 5 children so receive individualized attention.

My child _____ has been invited to receive tutoring in the Mission: Literacy program. I understand that Mission: Literacy is a reading instruction program that uses Bible stories as the text books.

My child has my permission to receive instruction through these bible stories, bible-related crafts, songs and prayer.
